

My telephone is paid for by me for MY convenience, not so that someone can interrupt my dinner to sell me a product that I'm not interested in. Let the seller foot the bill by mailing information that I can read at my leisure and discard as desired.